Our Alma Mater

Dedication

When Elmer Becker came to Huntington College as a student in 1919 little did he realize that thirty years later he would be completing his eighth year as President of his Alma Mater; nor did others realize how great would be his service to the college and community.

Because of his willingness to meet with students in need of guidance, the friendliness manifested to everyone, the consideration shown to others, and his ceaseless attention given to the many details necessary for the efficient functioning of a college, the 1949 Mnemosyne is dedicated to our President, Dr. Elmer Becker.

The President

ELMER BECKER, D.D.

Interested in youth and their problems as well as in the Christian life and emphasis of the church, Dr. Becker, president for the past eight years, has won his way into the hearts of the students who have been on the campus during that time. Huntington College is his Alma Mater, graduating in 1924. Following his graduation he spent 13 years in the active pastoral work in Ontario, Canada. In 1937 the General Conference of the United Brethren Church elected him as Secretary of Christian Education, a position which brought him into close contact with the youth of the church. After spending a term of four years in this position, the Board of Trustees elected him to fill the responsible position of President of Huntington College. Since that time, Dr. Becker has been zealously engaged in the expanding program of the college. His greatest desire is to have our college, as a Christian school, adequately fill the needs of the youth of the church, community, state and nation who may come within her doors to prepare for life's service.

The Dean

Dr. Musgrave is an alumnus of Huntington College having graduated in 1928. His particular field of interest has been Foreign Languages in which he has done considerable graduate study. In 1929 he returned to the campus as the Professor of Foreign Languages and remained in that capacity until 1937. From 1938 until 1943 Dr. Musgrave was Professor of French and Latin at Taylor University. In the fall of 1943 he returned again to H. C. and accepted the position that he had previously held in the Department of Foreign Languages. Appointed Dean of the College in 1947, he has continued to serve until the present time. Dr. Musgrave is recognized as an exceptional scholar in the field of Foreign Language, as well as being interested in the college academic program.

WILFORD P. MUSGRAVE, Ph.D.

The Business Manager

An important vacancy was filled in the college administration last fall when Mr. Harry Chamberlain accepted the position formerly held by Mr. J. Edgar Cole as treasurer and business manager. Mr. Chamberlain comes to Huntington from New York State where he has been supervising principal in New York high schools for the last twenty years. It was Mr. Chamberlain's interest and desire to become affiliated with a college of high Christian standing that prompted him to become interested in our school when he chanced to hear of it from the president of an eastern college. He accepted with pleasure the invitation to become our business manager and both he and those at H. C. have not regretted his decision.

Student Council

Invested with the executive and administrative power of the Student Union, the Council strives to serve the desires of the student body. It is elected by the students to serve the students. Weekly meetings on Tuesday at six-thirty in the evening were filled with problems and plans to make Huntington College progress from the viewpoint of the student. In these meetings various discussion and action has taken place concerning revision of the point system for co-curricular activities; purchasing of the flag which proudly flies from the pole on the front campus; the addition of more games and recreation equipment to the lounges in the dormitories; conducing and supervising the election of the Campus Queen; and numerous other things which have been done to better our campus life.

COUNCIL IS ELECTED TO SERVE THE STUDENTS

Perhaps the outstanding single accomplishment of the Student Council this year was rehabilitating the basement room at the foot of the west stairs into an attractive lounge. The addition of modern chrome furniture to the room makes it a favorite spot to relax between classes. Congratulations to the Council for the completion of a worthy project.

There are two student-faculty committees on the campus, the Student Life and Activities Committee and the Athletic Committee. Each year the Council appoints two representatives from the student body to serve on each of these committees. Paul Schilling and Faye Statsick aided Miss Bergdall and other faculty members with the problems of directing the student life and activities. Coach Longenbaugh was acting chairman of the Athletic Committee and received the student's point of view from representatives Julia Dury and Jim Garretson.

In popular election in the spring of 1948, Duane Ray received the honor of being chosen Student Union president for this year. He has served faithfully and has proven his leadership ability in this responsible position. Aiding him on the executive committee of the Council were Ed Nason, vice-president for the first semester and Al Jay, the second semester to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Ed; Beverly Pennington, secretary; and Lola Lee Peters, treasurer. Norman Cozad kept the news of council action before the students as reporter in his Huntingtonian column, "SC of HC News." Dr. Musgrave served as adviser and counselor.

Each year since the end of World War II, the Council has arranged for some type of program or activity to raise funds for the purpose of erecting or placing a memorial in honor of those former students of H.C. who lost their lives in that conflict. This year it took the form of an exhibition basketball game between the world famous Globe Trotters and the Markle Boosters.

The Student Council has worked hard to help the students feel a vital interest in the progress of Huntington College and to help make their school one of which to be justly proud.

Y. W. C. A.

GIRL'S LOUNGE ACQUIRES NEW LOOK

The Young Women's Christian Association started its activity at the very beginning of the school year when it cooperated with the men's "Y" organization to sponsor and arrange the "Y" Mixer to help the students learn to know each other better and get acquainted with the new faculty members. In addition to this event, the Y.W. has arranged for each new Freshman girl to have a Big Sister who is to help the newcomer to the campus become acquainted with college life and activity. The annual Thanksgiving Banquet, which is restricted to members of the two "Y" organizations and their guests, was held at the LaFontaine Country Club amid decorations appropriate to the season.

This year the association looked to Doris Woodcock as their able president. Jean Gruver was elected to assist Doris as vice-president, and Julia Dury was entrusted with the job of keeping the records and guarding the treasury. Dr. Helen F. Brooks showed her interest in the program of the year as faculty adviser. During the vacation between semesters the group redecorated the girl's lounge on the second floor of the Administration Building, which was in need of attention. To top off the year's activity they joined with Y.M. in the sponsoring of the "Y" Retreat late in the spring. This was a day filled with inspiration and relaxation supplemented with good food.

Y. M. C. A.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS PROGRAM FEATURED

Soon after returning to the campus last fall the Young Men's Christian Association became busily engaged in co-sponsoring the "Y" Mixer with Y. W. Late in November the Thanksgiving Banquet became the object of much planning and preparation as the "Y" organizations again combined forces for one of their outstanding events of the year. High lighting the program for the banquet was the address delivered by a former member of Y.M. and a recent graduate of H. C., Mr. Carl Zurcher.

Shortly after the new calendar year had thrust itself upon our presence, the "Y" organizations collaborated once again in a joint-meeting to hear debate teams from Huntington Township High School present the arguments pro and con on the national high school debate topic, "Resolved: That the United Nations now should be revised to a Federal World Government."

Throughout the year the association has fostered intramural sports for men. During the winter months the program centered for the most part on basketball. However, competition was aroused in other sports as well. Of course no school year could possibly end satisfactorily without the "Y" Retreat which is always enjoyed by those who spend the appointed day at the chosen spot.

The fellows placed the responsibilities of leadership in the capable hands of Elwin McCreery, president; Dick Osberg, vice-president; and Howard Hamblin, secretary-treasurer. Offering suggestions and advising them throughout the year's work was Prof. Donald Covey.

Gospel Volunteers

OPPORTUNITY FOR PRACTICAL SERVICE OFFERED

By far the largest organization on the campus, Gospel Volunteers is a group of active Christians who have enjoyed many blessed hours of fellowship and service. This enthusiastic group has been interested in promoting the religious life on the campus. Membership with this group has given opportunity for practical Christian work such as the deputation teams which have been actively engaged in providing programs for churches and other religious gatherings. The bi-weekly meetings have been inspirational with missionaries and church leaders as guest speakers. Devotional thoughts presented by the students as well as the song services enjoyed by all were an important part of these gatherings. The Saturday night "Singspirations" and the memorable "Hikespiration" were sponsored by this organization.

The daily noon prayer meetings have been a welcome pause in the day's activity for this group to gain spiritual strength and guidance. As in past years, members of the Volunteers have carried the message of the Gospel to those persons confined in the county jail.

Officers for the first semester were Earl Thomas, president; Al Day, vice-president; Dorothy Stermer, secretary-treasurer. At the beginning of the second semester a reorganization election placed Dick Osberg, president; Lauren Flick, vice-president; and Faye Statsick, secretary-treasurer. Miss Irene Bergdall, faculty adviser, was ever present and willing to counsel this active group.

Clericus

INTEREST IN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY PROMOTED

With the purpose of acquainting students who are prosepective ministers or missionaries with the type of work they will be expected to perform, Clericus presented a program based upon the needs and interests of its members. Topics, such as evangelism, urban and rural church problems, and church cooperation, have been presented. Varied methods —lectures, panel discussions, round table discussions, films, question periods — were employed by the program committee for the monthly meetings, in an endeavor to acquaint members with the procedures as well as give informative and challenging programs. Dorothy Stermer served as the efficient chairman of the program committee, assisted by Elizabeth Rumfield and Prof. J. Ralph Pfister.

The project undertaken for the year centered on the Seminary. One phase was to help people become better acquainted with the Theological Seminary. Articles were written by the committee for publication, and contact was made with off-the-campus members. The other part of the project undertaken by this committee under the leadership of Stanley Peters as chairman, assisted by Clarence Kopp, Jr., was to secure theological books for the library. Books of historical value to the church were sought, as well as new books.

The officers who headed the organization during the year were: S. Roger Birdsall, president; Earl Thomas, vice-president; Floy Mulkey, secretary; William Souders, treasurer; and Prof. Ralph G. Bealer, adviser.

Zeta

INTERESTING CULTURAL PROGRAMS HEARD

The literary organizations on our campus exist for the purpose of furnishing thorough training in expression of thought and in parliamentary procedure. Zeta's program of activity for the year has been designed to fulfill this purpose. Doris Spencer was elected to lead the society as president, assisted by Bethel Mote, vice-president; Jean McKown, secretary; and Marian Brott, treasurer.

Meeting regularly bi-weekly, the programs were varied and interesting including book reviews, round table discussions, motion pictures and musical entertainment. All meetings, of course, were conducted strictly according to parliamentary law which served to impress the procedure upon the minds of the members. In the business meetings plans were developed for the purchasing and hanging of new drapes in the Zeta meeting room, new song books were secured, and once again the constitution was revised and adopted to meet the changing needs of the society.

In the fall they declared a truce with Philo and along with the faculty sponsored the annual Fall Reception which was held in the Men's Dormitory. This year the girls did not have to prepare their rooms for inspection as was always the case in previous years. Instead they made a thorough inspection of the fellows' rooms and seemed to be quite pleased with decorative taste which the men exhibited. We must not forget the traditional Moonlight Hike which is held for the express purpose of . . . well, for several reasons. These two evenings of fun are also jointly sponsored by Zeta and Philo. Oh, yes, we must not forget to mention that Jean Gruver was Queen of the Hay Rack Ride this year, and Paul Schilling was King.

During the first semester, Zeta entertained Philo at an Inter-Society meeting. Along with the refreshments which the fellows enjoyed, an interesting program in the form of a round table discussion on "Military Training" was presented.

Philo

NEW INTEREST IS EVIDENCED

"Excelsior". Philo's motto may well be that of an organization that seems to have taken on new life. It has taken Philo quite some time to begin to recover from the war-time depletion of men on the campus, but it seems that now there is once again a spark of the old organization beginning to flicker into a flame. "Philo is on the move." Indications of new interest were evident around the beginning of the second semester when Philo Hall resounded with the campaign speeches of candidates from the opposing political parties, the Radicals and the Pacifists. It was time for the election of new officers and they had adopted the two-party system which is so much a part of our national government. Results of the election carried the Radical party into power with LaVern Smith as their president. Inaugural ceremonies were held on February 10 when the new president received the gavel of authority from the retiring president, Lloyd Flint, who in true Philo tradition became the janitor of the organization.

For the men on the campus this society purposes to give training in parliamentary procedure, encourage oratorical speaking as well as formal debating and panel discussions. Learning to express one's thoughts is considered of importance to Philo members.

In addition to their regular meetings they join with Zeta to sponsor various parties and the Inter-Society meeting in the spring when the fellows arrange for the refreshments and the program.

The picture below does not indicate the size of Philo although it was not so large the first semester. However, the second semester found an increased number of men on the campus becoming interested in the growing movement. Keep a watchful eye on this campus organization for "Philo is on the move."

Huntingtonian

MORE TO IT THAN MEETS THE EYE

The work connected with publishing a school paper is varied, and each member of the staff receives experience which could not be obtained in any other manner. The reporters learn that one has to be definite in writing, searching for the exact word to express the fine shade of meaning. Meeting a deadline reveals the necessity of being on time. Interviews and contacts to seek information give experience in meeting people. Salesmanship, collections, and balancing a budget are some of the experiences of those on the business staff. Technical terms become real as the staff shuffles with the galley proofs, revises, dummy, make-up, lock-up, press proofs, picas, cuts, sheet, and printer's pi.

A quick look at any issue of the Huntingtonian does not reveal time and effort that is demanded to put out the paper. The staff has attempted to give a complete coverage of all the activities and the organizations on the campus, as well as keep school spirit and morale at an even keel.

Members of the staff who have labored to earn this worthwhile experience are Lorraine Folk, editor; Beatrice Leedy, associate editor; Dorothy Stermer, Doris Woodcock and Fred Geyer, Jr., news reporters; Charles Miltonberger and Charles Wohlford, sports reporters; Donald Diffenbaugh, business manager; James Carroll, assistant business manager; Robert McCoy, advertising solicitor; Vessie Stephens, circulation manager; Herbert Cherry, assistant; Miss Lois Lehman and Professor J. Ralph Pfister, faculty advisers.

Palette Guild

BANQUET DECORATIONS AND POSTERS CREATED

Art work on the campus is generally referred to the Palette Guild whose members prove to be very versatile in producing the variety of work requested throughout the year. All art students automatically become members of the Palette Guild and are put to work on some project that has been accepted by the group. The ability of some of the members of the group has been demonstrated in the posters created for the athletic department and for the Junior class for their penny suppers. You will remember the beautiful replica of a stained glass window which was used in the Christmas Program as a background for the choir. As always, the Palette Guild was responsible for the delightful decorations at the annual Washington Banquet; they also were helpful in creating the decorations for the Thanksgiving Banquet earlier in the year.

If you have had time to drop into the art room sometime during the year, you may have observed that considerable change has been made in its arrangement. Under the leadership of its officers, President Rose Norton, Vice-President Evan Towne, and Secretary-Treasurer Rose Ann McMurray (1st semester) and Mary Miller (2nd semester) along with their interested faculty adviser, Mrs. Frances Hudson, the Guild took upon themselves the primary task of redecorating the art room.

To climax the activities of the year, an exhibit of art work done by the students was held in the spring. In reviewing the activities of this organization on the campus during the past year, it can be said that they fill an important place in the co-curricular program of our school.

Campus Playhouse

PLAYS PRESENTED FOR GUIDANCE PROGRAMS

Campus Playhouse has been busy this year serving not only the college, but clubs, schools, and organizations who were in need of program material. They orgonized early in the fall electing Betty Becker, president; LaVern Smith, vice-president; and Wilma Bussard, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Wilberta Edgington occepted the task of guiding this octive group through the year as faculty adviser.

As a part of the collegiate-high school guidance program of the college, three one-act plays, "Dear Lady, Be Brave", "Cracked Ice", and "The Tarnished Witherspoons", were presented in assembly programs in schools throughout the tri-state area. Working with the A Cappella Choir to present the annual Christmas program, the group turned its attention to a thought provoking one-act drama, "No Room in the Hotel", which placed the events of the Christmas story in a modern setting.

As spring-time once again beautified our campus, the Playhouse reoched the zenith of its year's activity in the production of a three-act comedy-drama. It is the outstanding expression of dramatic art by students on the campus.

Through association with this organization, members may develop understanding and ability in the techniques and procedures of directing amateur performances for church, school, or community octivities.

F. T. A.

OPPORTUNITIES AS TEACHERS ARE TOPICS

"Telling is not teaching" might well be the motto for the Pedaxis Chapter of the Future Teachers of America in their bi-weekly meeting in which a discussion of the latest news in the national and local education field is held.

Strong emphasis is placed upon sound living. Development among young people preparing to be teachers is one purpose for which all F.T.A. students strive.

Bethel Mote as the president; Robert Bouman, vice-president; and Jean Gruver, secretary-treasurer did a fine job directing the year's activities. Miss Bernice Thompson must not be forgotten for her ever-present help in guiding the organization as a faculty sponsor.

With the increased enrollment in the elementary schools, it is the hope of the F.T.A. to gain many more interested young people to prepare themselves for the great task of shaping and molding the character of the child. The teacher is a prophet, an artist, and friend to all. He builds, plans, and attempts the impossible and wins. The teacher is a reformer who seeks to remove the handicaps that weaken and destroy life. Blessed is the teacher who seeks for the best for those he serves!

Booster Club

CONSTITUTION MAKES CLUB INDEPENDENT

Pictured below is the governing board of the Booster Club whose duty it has been to promote school spirit especially at the athletic contests. Organized three years ago as a sub-division of the "Y" organizations it has continued under their control until this year. Feeling that they should be independent of any other group or organization on the campus, the Boosters drew up and had approved their own constitution. Under this new set-up the club is still under the control of a governing body consisting of representatives from each class. Officers for the year elected from this body are, Phyllis Johnson, president; John Hornaday, vice-president; Doris Woodcock, secretary; and Julia Dury, treasurer. Membership is open to everyone on the campus who is interested in boosting Huntington College in all of its activities.

Pre-game pep sessions have been initiated by the Boosters working in cooperation with the cheer-leaders. Remember the camp-fire session, the parade down through town, and the yells voiced at the various intersections the night before our home football game of the season? We created a lot of enthusiasm that night to cheer the team on to victory. The Booster Club was primarily responsible for creating that enthusiasm.

A Cappella Choir

CHORAL GROUP MAKES EASTERN TOUR

The A Cappella Choir of 1948-1949 was on industrious group of thirty-five music loving students who strove under the capable direction of Mrs. R. Jean Ware to raise their voices in song. Early in the year they elected Walter Burkholder, president; Floy Mulkey, vice-president; Theodore Slaybaugh, secretary-treasurer; and Richard Osberg, Phyllis Sloniker, and Lorraine Folk, librarians.

The work wos started immediately and music for the various programs was in their hands. The choir presented several beautiful Christmas numbers on the annual Christmas program, and no sooner wos it over than the work for the spring concert tour was commenced. The tour for the spring of '49 took the choir into the eastern part of the country including Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C. and other points of interest. The program, consisting of fifteen numbers including sacred classics, Negro spirituals, and patriotic numbers, wos presented at least once and several times twice a day during the seventeen day tour. Most of the programs were given in churches but some contacts were made in schools and through broadcasting stations.

A number of chapel programs were given by the choir and from time to time they presented their sacred concert to churches in the near-by communities. Always they were eagerly heard by the students and their friends. This enthusiastic group of singers was privileged to participate with other choirs from Christian Colleges in a Choral Festival sponsored by the Fort Wayne Bible Institute. Music for the Garden Day Program, Baccalaureate service and Commencement exercises were included in the year's work.

Special groups were organized to add variety and interest to the concerts. These groups sang independently of the choir as well as with them and were used extensively in other programs. The ladies sextet was one of importance with a mixed quartet and duets arranged from time to time. Soloists were selected from the choir and were presented in vocal solos during the tour.

All in all the year was successful, interesting, and enjoyable. Choir members received a blessing and an inspiration as they raised their voices in song.

At the Christmas program

Getting ready to go

Members of the A Cappella Choir do not soon forget the annual spring concert tour. Last year soon after leaving on the tour, they thought that school spirit had reached an all-time high when a car raced toward them with the occupants waving their arms furiously. However, they soon learned that it wasn't school spirit at all—someone had discovered that the chair robes had been left behind and had sent them speeding after the bus. The last laugh was on Dr. Becker, however, when it was discovered that he had forgotten his overcoat in the excitement of departure.

Everyone got a chance to unload the stands and set them up—even the girls. No one will say how many times they took their turn, but the picture at the left is sufficient evidence that they struggled with the job at least once.

It seemed that nearly every pastor had a script which read, "After the benediction, the congregation will remain standing while the choir passes out". Although they may have been tired none of them had to be carried out and after the first few times the chair members could hardly contain their laughter when that statement was uttered.

The tour last year included Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. At the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago and in Grand Rapids, Michigan, the choir was privileged to give their concert via radio. To use a word coined by the group during the tour, everyone had a "schwell" time meeting and singing for the people who help to support our school.

Instrumental Music

Instrumental music plays an increasingly important role on our campus each year. The H. C. "Pep" Band is heard regularly at each home basketball and football game. Though small in number, it might well use the slogan "The Loudest Little Band in the Land." Within the band are two smaller groups, the clarinet quartet and the cornet trio.

The clarinet quartet, composed of Jim Carroll, Jack Sorenson, Rex Steffy, and Professor Covey, made several appearances during Assembly on Friday mornings and assisted in the collegiate-high school guidance program. If your applause means anything, we know that you enjoyed hearing them play.

The newly created cornet trio, Carol Fagwell, Fred L. Geyer, Jr., and Kenneth Tharnell, is off to a good start and you can expect to hear more from them next year.

Max Ware has played a lot of violin during his stay at Huntington College and this was our last year to hear him. Max was always ready to do his best whether it be a single violin solo or an entire concert.

A newcomer to the campus this year is Evalyn Hammel, an artist at the piano. Her talent has been used regularly as a soloist or accompanist to vocalists or choral groups. Many times this year she has thrilled the student body with an exhibition of her mastery of the piano keyboard and musical interpretation. Who among us has not enjoyed listening to Evalyn's dramatic presentation of "Malaguena."

During the years instrumental music has had a definite place in the campus life of the school. As the years continue to favor us, this type of music will continue to be necessary for a well-rounded musical appreciation.

Garden Day In 1948

CORONATION CEREMONY IS COLORFUL

Elected at the beginning of the second semester by vote of the Student Union, Miss Violet Watson was crowned Queen of the Campus and reigned over the events of Garden Day on Saturday, June 5, 1948. Queen Violet succeeded to the throne following the colorful and gracious abdication of the departing Queen, Miss Maxine Ackerman. Queen Violet was attended by two princesses from each of the four classes and by pages and flower girls. From the Senior class, Miss Dicie Michael and Mrs. Dora Fern Kelty were the attending princesses. Mrs. Lola Lee Peters and Miss Phyllis Johnson represented the Junior class. From the Sophomore class, Miss Judy Johnson and Miss Rosaline Shoop were the princesses; and Miss Beverly Pennington and Miss Helen Fahl were the attendants for the Freshman class.

The day dawned with the weather rather threatening, so the coronation ceremony and the rest of the Garden Day program was held in Davis Hall. Following the traditional ceremony of the crowning of the Queen of the Campus, special musical selections were presented by the A Cappella Choir. The speaker for the afternoon was Dr. Frank T. McFarland of the Department of Botany, University of Kentucky. Following the program and the recessional of the Queen and her court, guests on the campus visited the nationally famous Fred A. Loew Botanical Garden.

Campus Queen 1949

We present with pleasure Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Jean

By popular vote, Miss Jean Gruver, Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, has been your choice for the Huntington College Campus Queen for 1948-49. It shall be her honor to reign over the spring Garden Day Activities on the campus. A young lady who is friendly and congeniol, active in campus organizations, and of recognized fine character and leadership, is the person upon whom you have chosen to bestow this honor. Congratulations to you, Queen Jean—it is our honor to have you as our Campus Queen.

"Football In '48"

That was the cry last year at this time, but we can now say that this is no longer just a cry. It is real. There was football at Huntington College in '48, thanks to the spirit of the college and students, and a few businessmen.

Football is not new on the H. C. campus, but has not been played here in the last 26 years. The first time the pigskin was seen at H. C. was in 1898. The game was in its younger stages then, and was not as spectacular as it is today. One of the survivors of that period is still seen on the campus in the form of lineman Fred Loew.

Since that time, football has returned with "a bang". A very encouraging season was experienced by the Foresters, despite limited facilities usually encountered during the first year of a revived sport. With the able assistance of two part-time coaches, John Chapman and Verlin Jackson, the Foresters completed the season with a 3 and 3 record.

In the season's opener, the Foresters came through with a very impressive victory over the Taylor Trojans of Taylor University at Marion, Indiana, by a score of 12-6. In their next game, the Foresters took on the Manchester "B" squad at Manchester and came out on top with a 10-0 victory. Encountering Ball State next the Woodsmen took it on the chin by a score of 53-0. In their next time out the Red and Green met the Yellowjackets of Defiance in a "mud bowl" at Defiance, Ohio, and came out on the short end of a 35-0 score.

Coaches John Chapman and Verlin Jackson

3-3 RECORD

Journeying 280 miles to Jackson, Ohio, the Foresters were dealt their third defeat at the hands of Rio Grande, 25-13. In their first home game at Kreigbaum Field, the Foresters entertained the Taylor Trojans, playing them for the second time this season. Again we turned the tables and emerged with a 20-12 victory.

Captain for this year was Jim "Hink" Hildebrand. Jim's exceptional line play at guard spurred the Red and Green on to their victories. Other members, who showed superior line play throughout the season were Bob Swihart, Ed Gordon, and Jim Delvin at Guards, Bud Barnes at center, Art Warner and Vernon Pinkerton at tackles, and Mick Hammel, Rex Yoder, and Paul Schilling at ends.

In the backfield, Curley McDowell bore the brunt of the attack at left half. Other backs who were outstanding were Norm Cozad and Chuck Taylor at quarterback, Paul Buzzard and LaVern Smith at right half, Dick Osberg and Jerry Hensel at fullback.

Tennis

With the addition of two new men, Carl Dinehart and Al Jay, to the tennis squad, Ted Heiney as player-manager, and Ted Slaybaugh, Neal Jay, and Pat Moran returning for another year, the Forester netmen prepared for a victorious season, which it proved to be as they finished it with three victories and no defeats.

Manchester was the first to fall before the mighty rackets as the Foresters emerged with a 6 to 3 victory. In a return match at Memorial Park, Manchester was again handed a defeat by a score of 6 to 1. For the next encounter, the squad journeyed to Indiana Tech and came home with an 8 to 0 victory, taking a clean sweep. At the close of the season, the Foresters traveled to Earlham College, where they participated in the Little State Tennis Meet in which such schools as Ball State, Butler, Hanover and Earlham participated. Ted Heiney and Al Jay teamed together in doubles and went to the semi-finals where they lost to Earlham, 6-4, 4-6, 3-6.

Baseball

The grass wasn't even green as the baseball inclined Foresters began their spring training. Working out in the gym until weather permitted outside activity, the H. C. nine worked diligently but to little avail. Suffering a bad season, the Red and Green are looking to a brighter future next year with promising material. Credit should be given, however, to those on the starting nine who stuck it out under trying circumstances. Here's wishing baseball at H. C. a successful "49" season.

Track

It was a windy and cold day as the H. C. thinly clads journeyed to Upland in their first and only track meet of the year with Taylor University. With little or no practice the Foresters turned in a striking performance.

Neal Crandel took top honors in the low and high hurdles, 220 yard dash, and broad jump. Glen Martin captured another first for H. C. in the half-mile run. Chuck Wohlford ran a close second in the javelin and discus events. Another place was gained by Elmo Stites finishing third in the mile.

FORESTERS MEET TOUGH COMPETITION

Under the leadership of Coach Glen Langenbaugh, who has just finished his second year at Huntington College as coach, the Foresters experienced a successful season by winning 11 and losing 10, for a season average of .523. With the return of eight lettermen, Captain Jim Garretson, Marshall Schoeff, Paul Schilling, Haward Kaylor, Elmo Stites, Charles Wahlford, John Harnaday, and Floyd Langenbaugh, and bolstered by four new boys, Norm Cozad, Paul Buzzard, Meritt Fagwell, and Jim Delvin, the Foresters opened their season successfully by nosing out the Tri-State Engineers at Angola, 39-36, on November 23, 1948. Jim Garretson was high scorer with a total of 15 points.

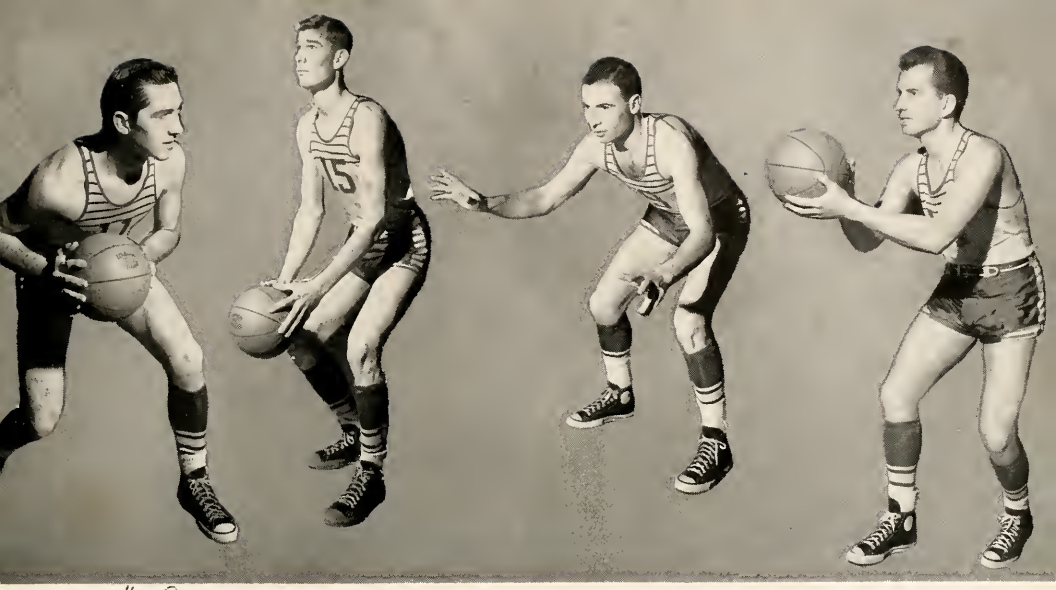
In their first home game of the season, the Foresters entertained the Concordia Cadets of Fort Wayne in the Community Gym, and whipped them by a score of 57 to 41. Paul Schilling led the scoring with 15 points, with Marshall Schoeff and Jim Garretson having 11 points each.

The Foresters then journeyed to Rensselear and encountered their first loss at the hands of powerful St. Joseph, 66-48. Marsh Schaeff led the scoring for H. C. with a total of 19 points. Two days later the Foresters journeyed to Terre Haute and took on powerful Indiana State, one of the best little Colleges in the nation. They took it on the chin 73 to 39.

On December 9, the Foresters entered the Taylor Invitation Tourney and drew Ohio Northern for their first game. Unable to hit consistently, they dropped the game 50 to 40. Paul Schilling led the scoring with 18 points. For their next game the Foresters journeyed to Indianapolis and were entertained by the Indiana Central Greyhounds. With a cold shooting average of .165 for the evening, the Foresters were outplayed 63-35. Kaylor led the scoring with 10 points.

The Foresters opened the 1949 year by being victorious over King's College from Delaware, 46-45. Garretson was high point man for the Foresters with a total of 13 points.

With wins over Indiana Tech twice, 46-41 and 47-46, and Taylor, 50-38, the Foresters were riding a four game winning streak until they met Indiana Central at Community Gym. They came out on the short end of a 72-62 score.



C. WOHLFORD M. FOGWELL J. GARRETSON J. HORNADAY

This loss coupled with three more losses to Cedarville, Ohio Northern, and St. Joseph, gave the Foresters a four game losing streak, which they broke by beating Tri-State for the second time, 58-46. Chuck Wahlford and Norm Cozad led the scoring for the Foresters with 13 points each.

Defiance was the next foe to fall under the "boom" of the Foresters, by a score of 54-53. A basket by Schaeff in the last 30 seconds gave the Foresters the victory. For the third time the Foresters met the Engineers of Indiana Tech and turned them back, 53-47.

The Foresters then made two trips into Ohio, first meeting Cedarville, losing to them, 62-47; and then Bluffton College which they defeated by a close score of 77-75. In the last game of the season, the Foresters met the Taylor Trojans at Community Gym and lost a thriller 57-53.

The Foresters had a scoring average of 51.1 points per game, while the opponents had an average of 54.9 points per game. At the free throw line, the Foresters had an average of 55% per game and their opponents had a 57% average.

Cheer Leaders

Something would be definitely lacking in college athletics if there were no cheerleaders to direct and stimulate organized cheering. At pre-game pep sessions and at the games themselves our active, enthusiastic cheerleaders of this year have leaped and shouted in their efforts to let the Foresters know that the student body is solidly behind them. Elected at the beginning of the football season, Jean Borton, LaVern Smith and Marjorie Carter have worked hard to build school spirit to a new high.

Women's Athletics

ATHLETIC PROGRAM FOR WOMEN IMPROVES

The women's physical education program on the campus has been improving in the last few years, and is gradually growing to be a major program. The enthusiasm and interest of Miss Ruth Luther, the instructor, for women's athletics has been a vital factor in this improvement. It has been her purpose to create an interest in the women for athletics and how to participate in them with a certain amount of skill. Since coming to our campus, Miss Luther has organized classes in basketball, bowling, tennis, archery, volleyball, swimming, and softball. Understanding of the rules of the various sports as well as proficiency in playing has been stressed throughout the year.

In the fall of the year, archery and tennis are the interest of the classes. Intra-mural competition is usually held with prizes awarded to the winners. When colder weather forces the classes inside, the gymnasium becomes the scene of participation in basketball and volleyball. For the last three years a basketball team has been organized for intercollegiate competition. Known as the "Green Hornets" they have worked and practiced under the coaching of Paul Schilling. Comprising the team this year were Julia Dury, Pat Kopp, Vessie Stephens, Rosie Shoop, Jean Gruver, Beatrice Leedy, Mary Frances Dreman, Martha Cooper, Mary Chapman, and Barbara Connor. Their schedule included only two games this year against the same team, Indiana Central, who defeated them both times. The Hornets are looking forward to a bigger and better season next year.

During the year many of the women have the opportunity to enroll in a swimming class if they so desire. These classes are held weekly at the Y.M.C.A. under the supervision and instruction of Miss Marilyn Ziegler, who is the women's swimming instructor on the staff of the Y.M.C.A. in the city. The class is primarily for beginners who have little or no ability in the sport; however, at the close of the year most of the beginners have become at least tadpoles if not fish.

Bowling is a popular class that was started the second semester. Meeting regularly at the Hotel LaFontaine bowling alleys, the group learns the proper technique in rolling the ball as well as the method of scoring and setting of pins. Scores are carefully kept and the girl with the highest average is awarded recognition along with others in order of their averages.

When the sun begins to shine again and the days become warmer, softball and the outdoors attract the attention and activity. As those lazy, warm, spring days increase in number, softball games become a regular occurrence on the campus as the women enjoy a sister-game of America's greatest sport.

We have heard rumors and seen a few signs of the organization of a Women's Athletic Association on our campus. Such an organization could play a very important role in the promotion of women's athletics as related to the educational program as well as to intercollegiate association and competition.

Sports play an ever-increasing part in the lives of the youth of our country. In years past such activity was predominantly considered to be for men, but in the present day women are becoming more and more interested in the various forms of athletics and are participating in them. To meet this growing interest, it is necessary to provide facilities and opportunities for them to learn about and engage in the sports program. The women's physical education program on our campus is growing and improving to meet that need.

What "drips", and we were dripping, too (even mud from our hair), after we, as Freshmen were pulled through the Wabash River. Highlighting the Freshman Day Parade was "Baby" Elwood Walker being perambulated down Jefferson Street in a baby carriage. Burning query of the year—"Why primp?" No men! Every girl went stag to the Washington Banquet, anxiously looking up to the Senior girls as if they were some unattainable planet beyond our own world.

A gleam in the girls' eyes during our Sophomore year. Why? More men! Return of the veterans added to our numbers and helped to fill in the ranks of those who had left us. Tormenting the timid Frosh enhanced our egos; however, the Moonlight Hike and Washington Banquet had begun to lose some of their glamour.

Just as the whittler shaves off his stick and it gradually disappears, just so our class diminished till in our Junior year only those remained who intended to graduate with our class. This was our busiest year; selling at basketball games, penny-suppers, and a box-social made the memorable Junior-Senior Reception possible. Our first adventure in the realm of high finance, the purchase of "Coke" machines, was a highlight of the year.

Our Senior year—and oh, the endless series of class meetings with President Schilling presiding over the "discussions". Always close by was Vice-President Jacobs, ready to offer suggestions and Secretary-Treasurer Jean Gruver recording the choice of commencement invitations, the selection of a gift to the College and the plans for Skip-Day (these were "Top-Secret"). So many times we said to ourselves, "This is it; this is the last time"—the last Hay-Rack Ride, or the last Washington Banquet, or the last time to sing the Alma Mater as students. How rapidly the years have slipped away! How eventful they have been! But now, it's here, that long awaited yet reluctantly met day; now we go out into the world to take up the challenge of life.

CHARACTER, SCHOLARSHIP, LEADERSHIP . . .

The five Seniors pictured above have received the high honor of having their names recorded as members of the national organization of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for the school year 1948-1949. Nominations for the honor were made by the Student Council and the final selection was made by the Faculty, including the Dean and the President. These nominations were sent to the national organization for consideration.

Membership in this national organization is based on consideration of the student's scholarship, his leadership and cooperation in educational and co-curricular activities, his general citizenship, and his promise for future usefulness to society. There are approximately six hundred educational institutions in the country participating in this program of recognition. Each school has its separate quota large enough to give a well-rounded representation of the student body, small enough to confine nominations to an exceptional group of students.

Who's Who Among Students represents the best of American youth in the universities and colleges of our country. To be elected to membership in this select group of American youth is a distinctive honor for any college student, and is a mark of educational attainment. It is from these youth of today that the leaders of tomorrow are expected to rise and take their places of responsibility in effective leadership.

The Theological Seminary of Huntington College purposes to assist all young people who are seeking instruction and training for Christian work. It aims to deepen and enrich the spiritual life of each student, and emphasize and strengthen the divine call to special service in the church. The Seminary also aims to acquaint the Ministry with sound Christian doctrine and establish them in it by setting forth clearly the evangelical Christian teaching of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ. This department also endeavors to develop able preachers of the Gospel, with ability to apply divine truth to modern problems and to prepare a Christian leadership in the best methods of evangelism and church extension.

There are several courses offered to meet the needs of the students. A course leading to the Bachelor of Divinity degree is offered to those students who have an A. B. degree from an accredited college. The Th. B. degree course is offered to students who have completed two years of prescribed college work. Both the B. D. and the Th. B. courses are three year courses in Theology and Bible and are designed to give the student a workable preparation for Christian service.

There are also two Bible diploma courses offered for those students who cannot give the time to full seminary preparation or who are not able to meet the academic requirements for the degree courses. The two year or the four year Bible Diploma course offers excellent training for Christian leadership.

Juniors

During the past year, H. C. campus has been activated by a group of enterprising, high-financeers—the jovial Juniors. From Memorial Hall to the Chemistry Lab, from Science Hall to the farthest boundary of the ravine, from dawn to dusk (and later too for that matter) one could have found any number of Juniors diligently searching for the "golden touch" of King Midas.

At the controls of the Junior Class this year was pilot Dick Diffenbaugh, assisted by co-pilot Al Day. Back-seat pilots were Doris Ann Woodcock, clutching the money-bag with tenacity and exacting class dues mercilessly in true Shylockian spirit, and Betty Becker, most-high-curator of the sacred archives. For a few weeks it seemed that our class would be rent by the second Great Schism. However, the war-clouds were soon dispersed through the assistance of our able advisors, Professors Shipley and Nussbaum. Yes, class-rings will still be a tradition of the Junior Class.

No one can dispute the fact that ours was the most industrious and enterprising class of the year. From the rollicking Freshman treasure hunt to the sophisticated Junior-Senior Reception, this was a year packed with activity. As we reminisce, we can sigh with relief and view with contentment the staging of two successful penny-suppers, super-salesmanship (employing all the latest tactics) at the sports events and, of course, the box social.

Yes, it's been a most successful year, and an eventful one as well. But most of all it has been a happy one filled with harmony and cooperation on the part of our class. Not only can we boast of quantity (and this is no boast—we're the largest class in the college), but we also have the quality. Watch for us to make headlines next year.

Sophomores

We are the Sophomore Class of Huntington College in the school year, 1948-1949. We are proud of our class, our officers, and of our school and we are thankful to God for this year of fellowship and guidance by His divine hand.

Since every group of any size needs leadership, we chose three competent members of the class to lead us in the activities for the year. To the honored and responsible position of class president, we elected Lauren Flick. Ably supporting him was Gerald Vincent, vice-president, and Marjorie Carter, secretary-treasurer.

It is fitting to mention our triumph over the Freshman Class in the annual tug-of-war. It's true that the Freshmen organized early and put a few of us in the fish pond, but many of those same Greenies had ample reason and time to rue that action as they plodded college-ward in the rain the same night. A "well-done" to those Sophomores who organized and carried through that field trip for the Freshmen.

We of the Sophomore Class believe in advertising our school as is proven by our action of sending a box of clothes to Europe. In this box were a number of Huntington College T-shirts, twenty-seven freshman hats as well as other clothing.

In the years to come as we have occasion to glance at this page, may we think back to these days which were spent at Huntington College not only as Sophomores, but as Freshmen, Juniors, and Seniors, and may we remember that it was through this Christian institution that we were enabled to have this fellowship and these memories.

Though the years may pass on and our paths do part,
Our memories will ne'er be gone
for they live within our hearts.

Freshmen

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself has said—
Ugh, it's too nice a day to study."

We Freshmen entered college with much anxiety and apprehension as to what it would be like. Soon we saw these fears and various neuroses materialize into such nightmares as Freshman Initiation. However, it wasn't so bad. Who would call a pleasant stroll in a September thunderstorm—at 2 A.M.—distasteful? Or who wouldn't gladly let a group of Sophomores pull him through some nice cold mud? But as the days of our Freshman year are fast slipping away, we feel quite capable of doing the same to a new crop of Frosh.

One day Davis Hall rang with shouts and cheers; the din was ear-splitting. What was it? Why Freshman election, of course. After the smoke had cleared away it seemed that Jim Dempsey had been declared president with Chuck Miltonberger as his assistant. From the land of the Rose Bowl came our secretary, Marilyn Herbstreet. The next office required honesty and integrity, but we elected a woman and Pat Kapp became custodian of the currency.

Under the leadership of these four plus the guiding hands of our able counsellors, Professors Ware, Howard, and Langenbaugh, the great potentialities of the class were exercised from the dunking of the Sophomores in the fish pond on the eve of Freshman Day to the entertaining of the Juniors on April Fool's Day. The project of the class was selling school tee shirts which brought us out on top financially after much haggling as to color and design.

We think we have the possibilities of becoming the most dynamic class on the campus. If you question this statement, we invite you to come around in June, 1952.

Clerical Efficiency

There is a certain group of feminine personalities on our campus who play an important part in the smooth operation of the clerical part of college administration. Without their help and efficiency, our records, both financial and academic, could not be so accurately recorded.

In the business office, Mrs. June Longenbaugh efficiently operates the book store and distributes the mail. Mrs. Gerald Anderson is the bookkeeper who stays hidden behind that big glass screen. It seems that she doesn't want to be disturbed. Miss Virginia Lohr is the secretary to the Business Manager and is the one who prepares that ever-welcome paycheck.

Next door in the reception room of the President's office, Miss Eunice Roof occupies her time as the busy secretary to the President. Her duties vary from a smiling receptionist to a clerk-typist.

Looking across the hall into the Office of the Registrar, we see Miss Shipley. But that is not whom we want to see this time so we go into the inner office and find Miss Ruth Yonker busily engaged at work on the numerous records on file in the Registrar's Office.

On down the hall we find a door marked Information Office. Looking inside we see a telephone switchboard behind which may be sitting one of two persons. Miss Rose Norton and Miss Mildred Kuhn divide their time in the operation of this nerve center of our campus communication system and information bureau.

Class Will of 1949

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We, the Senior Class of 1949, realizing that our time as students of Huntington College is rapidly growing shorter, and being in our right minds and in full control of our faculties, wish to make herewith our last Will and Testament. Our bequests both individually and collectively are as follows:

Winston Becker's elite dress to George Barnes.
Marian Brott's quiet manner to Betty Becker.
Walter Burkholder's love for Pennsylvania to Al Day.
Theodore Slaybaugh's "36" Chevy to the Royse Brothers to add to their collection so Phyl Staup won't have to pay any more bills.
Verlee Aseltine's sentimental feeling toward Lauren Flick to the Old Maids' Society.
Jean Gruver's nickname "Bruiser" to Eva Hook.
Phyllis Staup's gift of gab to Bonnie Rooney.
Paul Harwood's physique to Jean Simmonds.
Mary Dreman's nickname "Tex" to Ferris Leonard.
Duane Ray's enthusiasm, ability, and interest to Jim Hildebrand.
Wanda Burley's permanent chair in the Girls' Lounge to Betty Walz.
William Ensminger's gentleness and quiet manner to LaVern Smith.
Lloyd Flint's stature to Earl Thomas.
Meredith Hanselman's classes in the lounge in "story telling" to Chuck Wohlford.
Glen Jackson's timidness to Don Diffenbaugh.
Doris Spencer's dignity to Rosie Shoop.
Max Ware's musical ability to Eugene Martin.
Darrell Jacobs' sense of humor to Joyce Sanders.
Victor Meyer's ability to bluff his way through Mrs. Edgington's classes to those who may need it.
Dwaine Lange's ability to gripe to Faye Statsick.
Dale Osborn's foremanship at Schocht's to Emmett Cox.
Bethel Mote's innocent attitude to Marjorie James.
Carolyn Paul's ability to "shovel" in class to Al Jay.
Lola Lee Peter's cooking ability to Dick Diffenbaugh.
Lucille Phillips' pleasant personality to the Junior Class and her love for candy to its patrons.
Betty Poehler's search for a man to Wilma Bussard.
Paul Schilling's lateness to class to Claude Keller.
Elwood Walker's love for red hair to Jim Dempsey.
James Yonker's love for Illinois to Betty McCoy.
Grace Kranich wills Leon Neeb to all the girls of H. C.
Irene Petrie's nickname "Peach Tree" to Herbert Cherry and her petiteness to Doris Woodcock.
Glen McCray's slogan "Crazy about that girl in Kansas" to Elmo Stites.
Daryll Benson's good looks to John Hornaday.

Humbly and Respectfully,
